

6065. Adulteration of tomato pulp. U. S. * * * v. 1,188 Cans of Tomato Pulp * * *. Product ordered released on bond. (F. & D. No. 8643. I. S. No. 3179-p. S. No. E-923.)

On November 21, 1917, the United States attorney for the District of Maryland, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the District Court of the United States for said district a libel for the seizure and condemnation of 1,188 cans of tomato pulp, remaining unsold in the original packages at Cambridge, Md., alleging that the article had been shipped by the James Wallace Packing Co., Cambridge, Md., and transported from the State of Maryland into the State of New York, and reshipped into the State of Maryland, and charging adulteration in violation of the Food and Drugs Act.

Adulteration of the article was alleged in the libel for the reason that it consisted in part of a filthy, decomposed, and putrid vegetable substance.

On February 18, 1918, James W. Waddell and M. Brent Waddell, copartners, trading as the James Wallace Packing Co., claimants, having consented to a decree, it was ordered by the court that the product should be released to said claimants upon the execution of a bond in the sum of $500, in conformity with section 10 of the act, conditioned in part that the article should be used only for the purpose of cattle feed.

CARL VROOMAN, Acting Secretary of Agriculture.
