Analysis of a sample of the article made in the Bureau of Chemistry of this department showed that it consisted essentially of copaiba, cubebs, santal oil, matico, licorice root, and magnesium oxid.

Misbranding of the article was alleged in the libel for the reason that the foregoing statements, borne in the circular accompanying the article, were false and fraudulent in that it contained no ingredient or combination of ingredients capable of producing the therapeutic effects claimed for it.

On October 23, 1919, no claimant having appeared for the property, judgment of condemnation and forfeiture was entered, and it was ordered by the court that the product be destroyed by the United States marshal.

On August 11, 1919, the United States attorney for the Southern District of California, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the District Court of the United States for said district a libel for the seizure and condemnation of 71 cases of alleged Italian olive oil, remaining unsold in the original unbroken packages at Los Angeles, Calif., alleging that the article had been shipped on or about July 9, 1919, by Strohmeyer & Arpe Co., New York, N. Y., and transported from the State of New York into the State of California, and charging adulteration and misbranding in violation of the Food and Drugs Act. The article was labeled in part, "Marca Vita Olio Puro d'Oliva, Prodotto D'Italia * * * Pure Olive Oil Product of Italy."

Adulteration of the article was alleged in the libel for the reason that Spanish olive oil had been substituted wholly or in part for Italian olive oil, which the article purported to be.

Misbranding of the article was alleged for the reason that the statements, designs, and devices, borne on the labels of the cans and cases, were false and misleading, and deceived and misled the purchasers into the belief that the product was olive oil of Italian origin, whereas it was Spanish olive oil.

On August 27, 1919, the said Strohmeyer & Arpe Co., claimant, having consented to a decree, judgment of condemnation and forfeiture was entered, and it was ordered by the court that the product be delivered to said claimant upon the payment of the costs of the proceedings and the execution of a bond in the sum of $2,500, in conformity with section 10 of the act, conditioned in part that the product should be relabeled under the supervision of a representative of this department.
