

further reason that the said label was false and misleading with respect to the amount of ammonium chlorid, sodium chlorid, magnesium chlorid, calcium chlorid, calcium sulphate, calcium bicarbonate, ferrous bicarbonate, and alumina, as well as with respect to the total amount of dissolved mineral matter contained. Misbranding was alleged in substance for the further reason that the label was not plainly and conspicuously marked to evidence the true quantity of the contents of the said bottles.

On January 26, 1921, no claimant having appeared for the property, judgment of condemnation and forfeiture was entered, and it was ordered by the court that the product be destroyed by the United States marshal.

9561. Adulteration and misbranding of red kidney beans. U. S. * * * v. 17 Cases, 170 Cases, and 176 Cases * * * of So-Called Red Kidney Beans. Decree of condemnation and forfeiture. Product released under bond. (F. & D. Nos. 12218, 12219, 12220. I. S. Nos. 8764-r, 8765-r, 8766-r. S. Nos. C-1767, C-1768, C-1769.)

On February 24, 1920, the United States attorney for the District of Kansas, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the District Court of the United States for said district libels for the seizure and condemnation of 17 cases, 170 cases, and 176 cases, more or less, of so-called red kidney beans, remaining unsold in the original unbroken packages, in part at Wichita and in part at Winfield, Kans., alleging that the article had been shipped by the Marshall Canning Co., Marshalltown, Iowa, on or about September 18, September 25, and December 11, 1919, respectively, and transported from the State of Iowa into the State of Kansas, and charging adulteration and misbranding in violation of the Food and Drugs Act. The article was labeled in part: (Cans) "Uncle William Brand Red Kidney Beans * * * Packed by Marshall Canning Company, Marshalltown, Iowa."

Adulteration of the article was alleged in the libels for the reason that long cranberry beans had been mixed and packed with, and substituted wholly or in part for, the said article.

Misbranding was alleged for the reason that the above-quoted labeling and the design of red kidney beans, appearing on the cans and cases containing the article, were false and misleading and calculated to deceive and mislead the purchaser into the belief that the said article was red kidney beans, when, in truth and in fact, it was long cranberry beans. Misbranding was alleged for the further reason that the article was an imitation of, and was sold under the distinctive name of, another article.

On March 14, 1921, the Marshall Canning Co., Marshalltown, Iowa, having entered an appearance as claimant for the property, judgment of condemnation and forfeiture was entered, and it was ordered by the court that the product be released to said claimant upon payment of the costs of the proceedings and the execution of bonds in the aggregate sum of $750, in conformity with section 10 of the act, conditioned in part that the product be rebranded so as to show its true nature and character.
