

as aforesaid so as to deceive and mislead the purchaser into the belief that each of the said cans contained 1 gallon net, one-half gallon net, or 1 quart net of the said article, as the case might be, whereas, in truth and in fact, each of the said cans did not contain the amount declared on the respective labels but did contain a less amount. Misbranding was alleged for the further reason that the article was food in package form and the quantity of the contents was not plainly and conspicuously marked on the outside of the package.

On December 4, 1924, the defendants entered pleas of guilty to the information, and the court imposed a fine of $150.

12894. Adulteration of canned salmon. U. S. v. 1,823 Cases of Salmon. Consent decree of condemnation and forfeiture. Product released to be used as fish food. (F. & D. No. 17881. I. S. No. 8401-v. S. No. W-1431.)

On October 27, 1923, the United States attorney for the Western District of Washington, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the District Court of the United States for said district a libel praying the seizure and condemnation of 1,823 cases of salmon, remaining in the original unbroken packages at Seattle Wash., alleging that the article had been shipped by the Hidden Inlet Canning Co., from Hood Bay, Alaska, October 10, 1923, and transported from the Territory of Alaska into the State of Washington, and charging adulteration in violation of the food and drugs act. The article was labeled in part: (Can) "My-T-Fine Brand Choice Pink Salmon."

Adulteration of the article was alleged in the libel for the reason that it consisted wholly or in part of a filthy, decomposed, and putrid animal substance

On November 15, 1924, the Hidden Inlet Canning Co., Inc., claimant, having admitted the allegations of the libel and having consented to the entry of a decree, judgment of condemnation and forfeiture was entered, and it was ordered by the court that the product be delivered to the Oregon State Fish Commission to be used for fish food and that the claimant pay the costs of the proceedings
