The evaporated apples in the four consignments covered by this action were found to contain excessive moisture, and two of the shipments showed evidence of worm infestation.

On July 6, 1931, the United States attorney for the Western District of Arkansas, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the District Court of the United States for the district aforesaid an information against William Austin Claypool and Forrest Felix Hazel, copartners, trading as Claypool & Hazel, Springdale, Ark., alleging shipment by said defendants, in violation of the food and drugs act, in various consignments on or about October 16, 1930, from the State of Arkansas into the State of Illinois; on or about October 4, 1930 and January 31, 1931, from the State of Arkansas into the State of Missouri, and on or about February 2, 1931, from the State of Arkansas into the State of Oklahoma, of quantities of evaporated apples which were adulterated. A portion of the article was labeled in part: "Good Knight Brand Evaporated Apples Claypool & Hazel Springdale, Ark." The remainder of the said article was labeled in part: "Morning Glory Brand Evaporated Apples Packed by Claypool & Hazel."

Adulteration was alleged in the information with respect to a portion of the article for the reason that an added substance, to wit, an excessive proportion of water, had been substituted in part for the said article. Adulteration was alleged with respect to the remainder of the article for the reason that insufficiently evaporated apples had been substituted for the article, and in that it consisted in part of a filthy and putrid vegetable substance.

On December 22, 1931, the defendants entered pleas of guilty to the information, and the court imposed fines aggregating $26.
