26430. Adulteration of raspberries. U. S. v. 129 Pails of Raspberries. Default decree of condemnation and destruction. (F. & D. no. 38196. Sample no. 11621-C.)

This case involved an interstate shipment of raspberries that were infested with maggots.

On August 20, 1936, the United States attorney for the District of Massachusetts, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the district court a libel praying seizure and condemnation of 129 pails of raspberries at Boston, Mass., alleging that the article had been shipped in interstate commerce on or about August 13, 1936, by the H. A. Johnson Co., from Van Buren, Maine, and charging adulteration in violation of the Food and Drugs Act.

The article was alleged to be adulterated in that it consisted in whole or in part of a filthy, decomposed, or putrid vegetable substance.

On September 14, 1936, no claimant having appeared, judgment of condemnation was entered and it was ordered that the product be destroyed.

26432. Adulteration and misbranding of butter. U. S. v. 25 Cubes of Butter. Decree of condemnation. Product ordered released under bond. (F. & D. no. 38198. Sample no. 3747-C.)

This case involved an interstate shipment of butter that was deficient in milk fat.

On August 7, 1936, the United States attorney for the Northern District of California, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the district court a libel praying seizure and condemnation of 25 cubes of butter at San Francisco, Calif., alleging that the article had been shipped in interstate commerce on or about July 27, 1936, by the Wilcox Produce Co., from Portland, Oreg., and charging adulteration and misbranding in violation of the Food and Drugs Act.

The article was alleged to be adulterated in that a product containing less than 80 percent by weight of milk fat had been substituted for butter, a product which should contain not less than 80 percent of milk fat.

The article was alleged to be misbranded in that it was labeled "Butter", which was false and misleading and served to mislead and deceive the purchaser since it contained less than 80 percent by weight of milk fat.

On August 15, 1936, Wilsey Bennett Co., San Francisco, Calif., having appeared as claimant, judgment of condemnation was entered and it was ordered that the product be released under bond, conditioned that it be brought up to the legal standard.
