

Memo/Reply From JOSHUA LEDERBERG

TO: Joe Fuxton ↓

APR 17 1980

of context

An essay on comparative biology?

Joe - Can you help me find an exposition of the "comparative method in biology" that can help me trace the history of the idea(s)? I am less concerned about the Darwinian, phylogenetic motifs than the use of comparative analysis in working out mechanisms and pathways.

I have no particular article in mind but I am sure Ryan and I discussed several in the early 40's, as antecedents to the use of mutant strains within a species for this purpose.

What I am looking for may be all too obvious & well-known; so please make no assumptions.

enc. ELT.

Context

Joshua Lederberg
President
The Rockefeller University
New York, N.Y. 10021
(212) 360-1234

ORIG. RETAINED
 COPY

- REPLY FORM -