Dear Harriett:

Thank you for your hospitality Wednesday. My visit was very stimulating.

Your slides came here safely, and have been demonstrated to almost everyone here, and they are all impressed, as I predicted. I've tried to find that Experientia reference, but we don't seem to have that particular number. Could you dig up the page number, or even the date of that article?

Still working to clinch the evidence on that matter I was speaking to you about but it is coming more slowly than expected, and it may take another week more.

One more query- do you remember the gentleman who was sitting to my right at the luncheon table at the Institute? What was his name?

Hoping to see you at Cold Spring Harbour shortly,

Sincerely yours,

Josh.
