ANN LANDERS ANSWERS:

Lederberg Blameless

Dear Readers: In a recent column I inadvertently gave the impression that Josh Lederberg, Nobel prize winning geneticist had given me a bum steer. Not so. I steered myself on to that bumper. I apologize to Dr. Lederberg from the bottom of my chromosomes. —

Dear Eppie--

That headline would make up for any number of transgressions; but I really don't see what you had to apologize for. Certainly there was no offense to me in the piece you wrote about XYY.

Or should I worry whether there is something I don't know about?

Fraternally,

LEDERBERG

P.S. It was very gracious of you, in any event.
