

MEMO FROM
J. LEDERBERG
GENETICS DEPARTMENT
STANFORD UNIVERSITY
STANFORD, CALIFORNIA

TO: Arno Motulsky

TX
RC
RO

10/9/69

I will talk to Walter Bodmer about a full technical reply to Jensen when Walter gets back. However, some more discussion along these lines has appeared in the Harv Ed Rev.

On further reflection, I do not think that criticism at this level will have much useful impact. It would be quite technical and quite full of reservations: note JFC's rather commendatory comments in the Spring HER. I think the essential confusions have to do precisely with broad, qualitative interpretation, and I was so irked by the NYT Magazine article that I did write the enclosed (personal) reply.

Perhaps one could go further than I did here in exploring the vicious ambiguity of heritability. If I can get Jensen to criticize Edson, we may be a step ahead.

J. Lederberg