

MEMO FROM
J. LEDERBERG
GENETICS DEPARTMENT
STANFORD UNIVERSITY
STANFORD, CALIFORNIA

TO:
Arthur Jensen

TX
RC
RO

---

OCT 21 1969

---

The reference I mentioned to you is:

"Brain response correlates of psychometric intelligence". Ertl and Schafer
Nature 223:421-2 7/26/69.

~~XXXXXX~~

One wishes for a more detailed presentation of the data, e.g., even the sex classification is missing.

There were also some reports in Science last year on EEG/sleep peculiarities in Downs' infants (these also have deficiencies in serotonin metabolism).

The Ertl-Schafer findings still might reflect learned behavior, but these are perhaps the best leads we have to date.

Jm.