Dear Mr. Langevin:

In response to your request for citations on possible mutagenic effects of chlorine, my best source is a column by Joshua Lederberg, about five months ago discussing this problem. In addition, I believe that Gene Marine in his book Rape of America as well as past issues of Environment also mention this possibility.

I am a political scientist and therefore think that you may be best able to get first-hand research citations by writing directly to Dr. Lederberg - I believe he is at Stanford.

Sincerely,

Harvey Lieber

I think you may have overreached what I said; but may I have a copy of your article; and a page reference to Marine?

Thank you
