Cancer Crusade

This column should appear next Sunday.

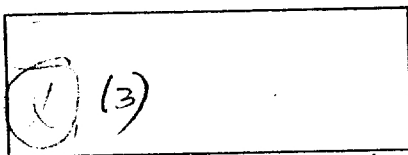

It is intended to deflate a backlash, which, if not properly tended to, could defeat the base of scientific support for the program.

I specifically asked that my membership on the Panel not be mentioned in the byline, as I realize that my views are not universally shared.

Please distribute this to the Panel^{*} organization just as you see fit. I hope the Post's editing does not mutilate the intended message.

*(and to Judith Randal of the Star, if you think it wise, in advance of the release).
