

Convergence of my overall AI interest with practical chemistry is premature. Why invest so much hardware when the planning for its use is still incomplete.

Hard analogy... but the system is still a toy.

Use a priori theory instead of a spectrometer. Or files of spectra. Or go to NSF to buy a spectrometer.

Bernice ← call first; Get mail reviews also;

* Articulate the AI theme more clearly in note to study section. 'We were pushed pretty hard on chemistry sans Djerassi; regretted we could not stay to the carbons

send Edelman our proposal sans budgets

ask Olga to suggest more investigation of a more tractable system?