Dear Dr. Lederberg:

Can you tell me of any published work dealing with genetic recombination in meningococci? I have known of several persons who have attempted such a study but none who stayed with it very long.

I am preparing a brief review of some of the recent work on the meningococcus, and would like to make it up to date as well as correct.

If you know of any such work I shall indeed appreciate knowing of it. It is a fascinating field to me.

Sincerely yours,
