

Personal memo from
JOSHUA LEDERBERG

Prof. Stephen L. McFarland
Autumn.

SEP 27 1991

BW history

Thank you very much for your pretty letter and enclosed papers!

(I-III)

Hinsley may have had a sequel by Michael Howard. I'm looking for it.

I've talked to Pouch ... but I agree.

If you want to get back to US/BW
a good contact might be Lemette.
But he's getting on!

Re air power, have you interviewed
Rostow? Solly Zuckerman?

Do you know a book by Bialer (Uzi)
Fear of the Bomb?

Yours,
Joshua Lederberg

THE ROCKEFELLER UNIVERSITY NEW YORK 10021-6399

②. # → 9/30/91 mg

Personal memo from
JOSHUA LEDERBERG

P.S. I have ordered your books on 1942-44.

Did I see something in the Modern Bank right in Technology +
Culture? (Was that yours, perhaps?)

Re killing machines not people:
that is embedded in "Envy-free" strategy (see Bill Perry in Foreign Affairs) and is USAF doctrine. But like US Army
see Weighly on American Way of War

And Eisenhower's land war strategy was certainly one of free fire attitudes:
... and "killing Germans" was common rhetoric.

I think the issue is ① rationalizing air attacks on non-combatants, and ② esp.
in cold war reporting tech. advantage to counter US power.

THE ROCKEFELLER UNIVERSITY NEW YORK 10021-6399