

Memo/Reply From
JOSHUA LEDERBERG

TO: Dr. J. W. Streeben

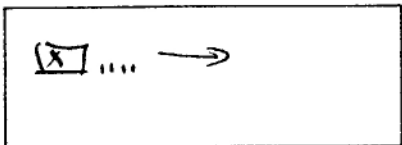

FEB 27 1981

Mechanisms of antibody formation

In response to your happy invitation of Jan. 26, I am sorry that an uncooperative cement disk obliged me
to withdraw from the visit.

However, here is the reading material
I would have recommended:

Chap. 33 in Le Stryer, Biochemistry
2d. Ed., is the best current synopsis
I know. The field is of course moving very quickly.

Joshua Lederberg
President
The Rockefeller University
New York, N.Y. 10021
(212) 360-1234

ORIG.
 COPY

RETAINED

- REPLY FORM -

Memo/Reply From JOSHUA LEDERBERG

TO:

Somewhat more compact
are the enclosed few pages (John David, ed.) from a recent update of the Medicine (C.E.O.)
textbook issued by Scientific American. The whole chapter on Immunology is worth keeping in mind.

Also enclosed: a couple of souvenirs.

Ken Schaffner, Philosophy, U. of Pitts. is writing a critical history. when it reaches print I'll sign it for you.

Sincerely,

Joshua Lederberg
President
The Rockefeller University
New York, N.Y. 10021
(212) 360-1234

ORIG.
 COPY

RETAINED

- REPLY FORM -