Dear Seymour-

Yitzhak

This is the first chance I've had to thank you for sending me the Caulobacter. It arrived in somewhat "natural" condition, i.e., mixed with a fast growing motile rod, but just before leaving Madison, I think I got it out, partly with help of single cell isolation. I'll let you know of anything further. In my first looks, I could not make out the stalks on living cells except when the cells were tilted for an oblique view.

Yours,

Joshua Lederberg
