

INDIANA UNIVERSITY

BLOOMINGTON, INDIANA

12/28/1946

Dear Lederberg,

I hoped to see you in Boston, but the need for completing some urgent work kept me from going there - No, I have done nothing on complex mutations in K12, since I have been all taken up with phage growth and teaching -

I wonder if the information on apparent linkage groups that you give me in your letter, is official enough so that I can include it in my review on bacterial genetics which is finished and shall be sent to the editor in about 4 weeks -

I certainly gave you <sup>(or better, your work)</sup> the build-up you deserve -

I hope we can get to work on K12 resistance patterns soon -

Best regards,

Luria

"The segregation of bacterial characters is not at random. This suggests that there may occur linkage relations."