

March 9, 1948.

Mr. Spencer F. Miller,
Bursar,
Yale University,
New Haven, Conn.

Dear Mr. Miller,

By this time you will have received my check for $707.00 which I had thought would close my accounts with Yale University. I was very much surprised to receive the enclosed bill for Spring Term tuition, since far from being in residence at Yale during 1947-1948, I have been very busily occupied with my duties here since last September. My thesis was submitted last September, and Mr. Simpson informed me that I would not be liable to any further registration, residence, or fees. I am due to be examined on this dissertation on April 23, but the oral examination can hardly be the basis for the $125 bill. May I suggest that you consult Professor E. L. Tatum, my major professor, for details. Meanwhile, please rectify this error.

Yours sincerely,

Joshua Lederberg
Assistant Professor of Genetics.