Dear Mr. Freeman,

I am sorry to answer late your letter of July 29. It came while I was away, and when I arrived home at the beginning of September a heavy load of teaching and other duties was expecting me. I am sorry to have missed the opportunity of seeing you when in Cold Spring Harbor.

I realize we deserve the very kind reproach that is implicit in your letter. However, I should emphasize that both Joshua and I have been full of good will in respect of the book. In the first semester of the next year we are very likely to be again together, as Joshua has invited me to Madison, and this will be our best opportunity, I think, for going into the matter in a more thorough way than we have been able to do so far.

Yours sincerely

(L. L. Cavalli-Sforza)
