Dear Joshua:

Many thanks for your comments and suggestions. I appreciate particularly the suggestion regarding the Meynells. We hope to exploit the opportunity to accommodate visiting professors as a possibly efficient means of learning about people and issues, getting some assistance in teaching, and avoiding, at the same time, making essentially irreversible commitments regarding personnel before having lived in the microbiological arena for a year or two.

I hope to get the chance to chat further with you next month in La Jolla or at Stanford.

Sincerely,

Herman
