Dear Dr. Lederberg:

I greatly enjoyed having lunch with you the other day and am very sorry to have missed the opportunity of visiting your laboratory in the afternoon.

I would greatly appreciate it if you could send me the printed material you mentioned concerning the Space Biology Program.

I have forgotten to mention to you that you and I have had an early experience in common. Mr. Jerry Schur was my biology instructor at Stuyvesant High School in New York and did much to enhance my interest in both biology and astronomy. I had some correspondence with him last year and was happy to learn that he has improved his position in the education system of New York City, but I am sorry it had to be to the detriment of Stuyvesant.

I look forward to seeing you again some time.

Sincerely yours,

Jerome Gross
