Message

Dear Hilary:

I am sorry that you have to think now of abbreviating your plans, but of course we would like you to come when most convenient for you, and the dates you mention are acceptable, though not as good a fit as the previous schedule, especially if Irene could also come on the latter. So if you can find a last-minute solution to the problem of 4/29, ~~don't~~ take advantage of it; otherwise, do plan for the April 24 interval. If we don't hear otherwise, we will have to assume you are coming the 24th.

You asked me about a book on computers; there is still no ideal one for Biology, but "Computer Applications in the Behavioral Sciences" by Borke(ed.) Prentice Hall 1962 should be recommended. The Herzenbergs have been finding a computer program very helpful for controlling their mouse colony, to mention a very prosaic application. More on this when we see you. Till then,...
