Dear Josh:

I was very pleased to learn that you are going to be down here to give a talk around February 16. I hope you will be amenable to the idea of attending a cocktail party in your honor the evening of the sixteenth at my apartment. It will be an opportunity for everybody to get together on a more informal basis than what is possible in the laboratory. If you could let me know your exact schedule, it would help us very considerably in making plans for your stay here, since I know the Giles' would like to have you visit with them, too. Is Esther planning to come with you? If not, please remember me to her.

Thanks for the reprints.

Sincerely yours,

Seymour Pomper
