My dear Rosenberg:

I am writing to you at the suggestion of the workers at the experiment station in Puerto Rico. I have been looking rather fruitlessly for a small supply of the glucoside indican. Not long ago I read of the work that the Puerto Rican workers were doing on Indigofera. They in turn mentioned that some people in your department had "fed this glucoside to chicks during their investigation of the toxicity of indigofera endecaphylla." I am writing to you in hopes that you could forward my request for a small sample of this material, if it is available, to the appropriate quarters. I could make the most effective use of a sample in the neighborhood of 1/2 to perhaps 10 grams of the material.

With best regards,

Yours sincerely,
