

December 1, 1950.

Dr. C. P. Swanson,
Dept. Biology,
Johns Hopkins University,
Baltimore 18, Maryland.

Dear Carl:

Thank you for the invitation to write for QRB. Unfortunately, just a few days ago, I contracted to write a similar article for Physiological Reviews on Unicellular Genetics. Very likely, QRB would have been a more appropriate place for the article than Physiological Reviews, but it would be awkward to change plans now. For the present, therefore, I must decline this invitation. In a couple of years, however, the critical urge may wax again, and I would like to reserve the privilege of reopening this question, if I may.

As to book-reviews, I shall be glad to cover McEwen's Bacteriological Technique, but do not feel that Viruses 1950 is appropriate for more than a very short notice or description. I'll be glad to submit such if you'd like, but someone like A. Novick (Radiobiology-Chicago) or Gus Doermann (Oak Ridge) might wish to do a more extended job.

Yours sincerely,

Joshua Lederberg.

8 P33