Dear Prof. Lederberg,

... Thank you very much for the reference to the foam flotation of cells and spores. I enclose a reprint of the article in Nature. It seems that this organic material brought in from the sea may be causing symptoms of asthma in coastal areas of New Zealand. I would be very interested in any thoughts you might have on the subject especially as I would think this might also apply to the coastal belt of California.

Yours sincerely,

A.T. Wilson
