

NATIONAL ACADEMY OF SCIENCES

DAVID R. GODDARD
BOTANICAL LABORATORY
UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA
PHILADELPHIA 4, PENNSYLVANIA

SECTION OF BOTANY

April 30, 1957

Professor Joshua Lederberg
Department of Medical Genetics
The University of Wisconsin
Madison 6, Wisconsin

Dear Josh:

I have your good letter of April 27 and first of all my congratulations on your Department of Medical Genetics. I think you have a very real opportunity to make a major contribution to the medical profession in this appointment.

I can see your problem as to the choice of section of the Academy. There is no doubt that the members of the Botanical Section will be very much disappointed if you should join some other section. On the other hand, there is no doubt that the Pathology and Bacteriology Section needs new blood. Whether or not they will accept your ideas, and whether you can have any influence in this Section, I do not know.

You may be interested to know that Tracy Sonneborn and I are proposing to the Academy some reorganization so that people working in the borderline fields of microbiology, virology and genetics, or certain aspects of biochemistry and microorganisms can be considered for election outside of the present sections. It may well be that your greatest contribution will be to help us to organize this new group and, if a new section were later set up, you might wish then to transfer your membership from the Botanical Section to this new group.

I would suggest that you discuss the problem of which section to join with Perry Wilson and President Fred before you join any section than that of Botany.

With my best regards,

David

David R. Goddard

DRG/rw

P.S. I know that you really love to be effective in the Academy - you will have to be patient