

ADJUTANT AND INSPECTOR GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Richmond, December 10, 1862.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 102.

The sentence of dismissal pronounced in Special Orders, No. 4, Head Quarters of the Department of Mississippi, Sept. 4, 1862, against 2d Lieutenant W. W. DUNLOP, C. S. A., and approved by Gen. BRAGG, is, by direction of the President, committed, so as to require of Lieutenant DUNLOP a written apology to his Commanding General for the disrespect exhibited in the disobedience of orders complained of, and the language employed by him on that occasion.

The President is thus lenient towards Lieut. DUNLOP, in consideration of his youth and inexperience, and the pledges which he has given of amendment: but the conduct of this officer must be remarked on as both unbecoming in itself, and calculated to degrade his profession.

Upon making the required apology, Lieutenant DUNLOP will be restored to the service, and will report for duty to Gen. BRAGG.

By order.

S. COOPER,
Adjutant and Inspector General.
