Dear Jacobs

I am so

sorry to hear that you and Mrs Jacobs are knocked out by your old enemy.
It is too bad but I hope by this time you are both better. The weather has been so glorious (as I see it has been the same with you) that you should soon shake it off. I am desolated to think that I may miss you.
I have promised to go to

The Congress of Hygiene at Berlin leaving Saturday the 22nd. Nuttall, Maussen & a number of friends are going and I thought it would be a good opportunity to see the new medical side of the place. They say the Virchow Hospital is wonderful. His Jr has been called to succeed Legden, a first class appointment. We are having a very good time here. We have had such a busy summer that Miss Osler thought she would prefer a few weeks of seclusion in the Cottages

We miss Coleridge and I am sorry not to have ten days with Mr Phipps but this is a delightful spot, the bathing excellent & the golf links very good. I have put Rivers into the hands of the Pro and we are now playing nine holes every afternoon. The fishing is good, Isaac says, but the fish do not bite! Tom Melmer's wife is sad but he has got a good girl & they seem very happy. I am reviewing articles for the system - the first two volumes will very well The Oxford Press is issuing the work here & I have T. Melmer's name on the outside & have called it "a System of Medicine" we must stir up the brethren about the Congress next year. I hope Fuller will come over. I could arrange a series of meetings for him & if Magnin did the same in Paris & His. Jr. in Berlin or beyond it would stir up interest I'll miss facts that my chair is a delight.

It is in a special corner, with a reading lamp above my head, & I am kept late hours in it.
I have been getting some treasures lately - let us have a line to say that you are better - sincerely yours

W. Osler
